Governors Vote Against Taking Resolution Stand

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) Disciplined Democrats derailed Monday Republican presidential contender Nelson A. Rockefeller's drive to compel the National Governors' Conference to take a stand on a resolution for civil rights and racial equality.

The New York governor reacted with hot blasts at Democratic governors - and at President Kennedy.

The moment of dramatic climax of the 55th annual meeting of governors came almost at the start, after welcoming ceremonies.

Vote Is 33 To 16

Agency Would Act As Rules Referee In Bitter Dispute WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy asked Congress Monday to avert a nationwide railroad strike next week by quickly giving the Interstate Commerce Commission unprecedented authority to deal with the bitter work-rules dispute. Senate hearings on the proposal will start Tuesday. Kennedy's plan would delay a walkout at least two years by obliging the railroads to submit to the ICC, for approval in advance, the proposed rules which would eliminate the jobs of thousands of railway firemen. The on-train unions' strike threat is tied directly to the carriers' application of the disputed new work

The ICC would issue "interim" orders, after hearings on each disputed point. These would remain in effect for two years, unless in the meantime the parties had reached a voluntarily bargained settlement

Precedence Given Bargaining

Although the effect would be a government-forced settlement for the duration of each such order. Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz argued that the end-aim is for bargained agreements and Kennedy's 10-page special message to Congress said:

"Unlike compulsory arbitration, this method would preserve and prefer collective bargaining and give precedence to its solutions.'

As Rules Referee In Bitter Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy asked Congress Monday to avert a nationwide railroad strike next week by quickly giving the Interstate Commerce Commission unprecedented authority to deal with the bitter work-rules dispute.

Senate hearings on the proposal will start Tuesday.

Kennedy's plan would delay a walkout at least two years by obliging the railroads to submit to the ICC, for approval in advance, the proposed rules which would eliminate the jobs of thousands of railway firemen. The on-train unions' strike threat is tied directly to the carriers' application of the disputed new work

The ICC would issue "interim" orders, after hearings on each disputed point. These would remain in effect for two years, unless in the meantime the parties had reached a voluntarily bargained

Precedence Given Bargaining

Although the effect would be a government-forced settlement for the duration of each such order, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz argued that the end-aim is for bargained agreements and Kennedy's 10-page special message to Congress said:

"Unlike compulsory arbitration, this method would preserve and prefer collective bargaining and give precedence to its solutions."

There are few things you see more frequently than the telephone. Virtually everybody has one.

This is what makes your phone so uncommonly useful.

Friends, neighbors, stores, doctors, business associates -you name it-can be reached so easily by telephone. You save time, trips to town and all kinds of trouble.

Your phone gives you convenience that's indispensable -that can often make the impossible possible.

That's why low-cost telephone service is so uncommonly high in value.

ANOTHER BREAK IN TRADITION - Britain's Princess Anne, left, is pictured in the car as she leaves the House of Commons in London after a visit there. Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip announced another break in tradition on bringing up bluebloods - they're sending Princess Anne to school like other children. Anne, 13 next month, who has been tutored privately in Buckingham Palace, is to enroll at fashionable Benenden School, September 20. The Queen and her sister, Princess Margaret, both were educated privately at Buckingham Palace, like all other royal maidens before them. The girl at the right is not identified. (AP Photofax)

Red Faces In Bonn And Washington

Hardly a day passes without news of Russian spies and their activities. Now the West Germans, who had the reputation of being cagey, have uncovered at least three Soviet operatives in their federal intelligence, if that is the right

The three admit that for 10 years they have been serving the Reds faithfully. Consequently, there are a lot of red faces in Bonn.

Shortly before they were nabbed, two of the double agents received simultaneous accolades from both countries. The German boss, a former Wehrmacht general, sent plaques showing St. George slaying the dragon. The chairman of the Soviet committee for state security was more generous. He sent not only letters of praise, but cash bonuses.

One of the Germans managed, even after he was in jail, to keep transmitting reports to the Soviets. Another of the trio testified there were so many Germans working for the Reds in his department that his Soviet superiors suggested he try to get a transfer to another office where he could be more useful.

But it is difficult to laugh at the gullible Germans, for their intelligence agency was set up by the American CIA, which operated it as a subdivision for eight years, and has maintained close ties since.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

The Price Of A Deal

He is a short man, a native of Hungary, and he talks slowly and carefully in a precise, though oddly accented, English. His eyebrows are strong and heavy, giving an impression of hidden physical reserve. On his left arm there is a tattooed identification mark, the ineradicable reminder of his compulsory "registration" in a Nazi concentration camp.

During World War II he was shuttled about from camp to camp by his captors; just before he was scheduled for execution and an anonymous grave he escaped and managed to make his way to General 'Lucky Forward' Patton's lines. It was his second escape from totalitarianism, for, as a captured officer of the Austro-Hungarian Army during World War I, he had been sent away to northeastern Siberia. When the Bolsheviks grabbed him, he managed to buy his freedom by pretending he was a skilled veterinarian and hence exchangeable for a Russian veterinarian whom Lenin's government wanted back.

The point of this introduction to the career and character of Dr. Bela Fabian, the head of the Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners, is that he knows what it is like to be stuck away behind barbed wire or in a remote place from which attempted escape is usually a form of suicide. As a survivor of the Nazi hell of Auschwitz, Dr. Fabian considers that a duty has been laid upon him to spend the rest of his life working to save political prisoners who are still being held incommunicado. There are plenty of them today, in Soviet Russia and in China - and they include among them some 63,000 Hungarian compatriots of Dr. Fabian who were carted away to Kazakstan in Soviet Asia after Khrushchev's armored divisions had finished the business of smashing the Hungarian Revolution.

Originally the seized Hungarian "pols" were 75,-000 in number-but, as a measure of his willingness to soften a bit, Khrushchev allowed 12,000 of the captives to be repatriated. But that was long ago as a prisoner's life is reckoned, in 1958. The remaining 63,000 prisoners have had five years of forced labor in the Soviet Union since the "token" repatriation of

Now the talk is that some non-aggression agreement might be worked out between the NATO nations and the Soviet satellite nations of Eastern Europe. Khrushchev, in suggesting a pact, has been showing his pleasant side. As the poet Robert Frost said, Khrushchev has the ability to seem a "genial ruffian." Such "ruffians" are in marked contrast to Stalin, who was generally dour and implacable and whose humor was heavily

A "genial" Khrushchev intent on playing the role of Dr. Jekyll may be better for the western world than the shouting, shoe-banging Bolshevik version of Mr. Hyde. But Dr. Bela Fabian sees it somewhat differently. He is afraid that, in a period of amity between the West and Moscow, the 63,000 Hungarian prisoners will be forgotten.

Among the 63,000 there were, when the orginal seizure was made, some 7,000 girls, then aged 13 to 18. "The lucky ones among those girls," says Dr. Fabian broodingly, "were those who managed to find single lovers among the Russians to protect them." Svetlana Tukashevsky, whose father, the famous Marshal Tukashevsky, was executed during the big purge of the Nineteen Thirties, befriended the 7,000 Hungarian girls — and some of them have managed to get letters posted to the West, which is how Dr. Fabian has been able to keep track of what goes on in Kazakstan.

The UN has not been able to do anything for the Aungarian prisoners in Kazakstan. There have been amnesties of a sort (in reality, suspended sentences) in Hungary, where Dictator Kadar is now aspiring to be called a liberal. But there has been no amnesty, no Bay of Pigs type of ransom, for the deportees. Senator Hubert Humphrey tried to talk to the visiting Soviet envoy Milkoyan about the Kazakstan prisoners when he was in Washington, but all the Senator got was a stony answer that the only prisoners in Russia were common criminals.

So what should be done if the prisoners are not to be sacrificed to "amity" between West and East? Are they doomed to be swept under the rug for the crime of having been Hungarian patriots? Dr. Fabian's Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners has one last wild hope: let an exchange of Hungarians from Kazakstan be put high on the agenda as one price of any deal with Khrushchev on eastern Europe. There should be other prices, too, but that is another subject.

Sonny Liston Says Home Is Most Important Factor In A Boy's Life

WASHINGTON-One interesting aspect about the world's heavyweight boxing match is that both Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson have been in trouble for delinquency but Joth have been trying to do something to help others avoid similar pitfalls.

Patterson has used his own money to set up the "Floyd Patterson Houses" in New York, two homes on the East Side where boys just out of reform school can live during the first difficult period of adjustment.

Sonny Liston came to Washington for the last Big Brothers dinner and among other things spent some time at Junior Village, a government orphanage where he tried to fill the vacuum in the lives of children, some of whom have never seen a mother. Sonny was so occupied, that I.e was late getting to the dinner.

At that dinner, in front of 800 people, including the Vice President, I interviewed Liston on a lot of subjects ranging from Cassius Clay to death in the ring. Here is part of the repartee:

"Sonny, do you ever feel nervous before a fight?"

"Not as nervous as I am now. I always feel that the other fellow should be nervous, so there ain't no use in both of us being nervous.

"What do you think is the future of Cassius Clay?"

Press Begins To Understand Racial Problems

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON-For a long time now, many people in the South have been saying that the newspapers of the North don't understand the "segregation" problem. But something has happened recently which indicates that prominent newspapers in the North -'The New York Times" and "The New York Herald Tribune" are beginning to understand that "integration" isn't as simple as it has appeared to be. its inherent evil.

"Equal rights," for instance, are being found to be impractical if they are literally applied in education. Even the viewpoint of the Supreme Court of the United States - that a Negro child can't get as good an education in a segregated as in a desegregated school - is turning out to be more theoretical than practical.

Perhaps the most realistic editorial that has been written on the impracticality of racial equality in the public schools appeared on Thursday in "The New York Times." The full text is as follows:

"New York City is doing some hard and needed thinking these days about how to give the Negro his equal opportunity in every way - education, jobs, housing, everything. That is good. But the Negro, equally with the white man, should be wary of easy solutions, quick remedies that seem to promise instant success. One of these is inherently unjust and inhumane. It is the quota system. "It has the temptation of surface plausibility. If the population of the city is 15 per cent Negro, why shouldn't the Negro have 15 per cent of the jobs? If the population of Manhattan is 25 per cent Negro, then he should have 25 per cent of the jobs in Manhattan. Easy, isn't it? But go on from

"If this reasoning were valid, the quota should be immediately applied in every business, in every industry, and on every level -

whether there were qualified applicants or not. And it would apply to religions, nationalities - and how many other kinds of divisions? Every floor in every office building would have to have its quotaed shade of color, race or whatnot. To state the proposition is to show its absurdity and also

"Now let us look at the public schools. With the best will in the world how, in Manhattan, can 'quota' be achieved even if it were desirable to do so? Negro and Puerto Rican children in that borough total 76.5 per cent of elementary school enrollment and 71.6 per cent junior high school enrollment. Citywide there are 117 elementary schools whose pupils are Negro of Puerto Rican by 90 per cent or more. These schools cannot be made 'white.' A satisfactory percentage of integration can be achieved neither by bussing, nor by zoning, nor by governmental fiat, nor by magician's

"What is possible in this impossible situation? The board of Education can do its best with the fullest use of the tried previous methods, which include the open enrollment policy of moving some Negro children to under-utilized schools in 'white' or mixed districts. New schools can and must be built in 'fringe' areas. But the best thing it can do for the Negro now is to bring him the best school that can be bought, with money

"Joseph P. Lyford, staff member of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions and author of a study being made for the Fund for the Republic, for nearly a year has been working in a 40-block area of the Upper West Side of Manhattan. The other day 'In my interviews over the past 10 months with low income Negro and Puerto Rican parents in the area, never once has the racial percen been raised as a concern. The parents' interests have been in the type of teachers the children have . . . and the various facilities the school has to offer. All this leads me to feel that there is a considerable gap between the

that they are. The best thing the city can do for the Negro is to make the schools better. The New York Herald Tribune just a week earlier - on July 11 - said in an editorial:

"True equality doesn't lie in mathematical formulas, in the careful maintenance of a 'nice balance,' or in a reverse racism that seeks to boost the Negro through preferential hiring or arbitrary advancement. Racial quotas are as un-American as discrimination itself. They separate, they categorize, they label; they inherently contradict the ideal of equal opportunity, because they establish separate ladders of opportunity. But what becomes of the view that Negro leaders have been expounding - namely, that equality should mean equality, that for all jobs held by white men there must be a certain percentage of Negroes working alongside them, and that the same rule applies in the schools? Also, what happens to the views of those "moderates" in the South who have felt "token integration" to be adequate?

Anybody who has insisted heretofore that the practicality of the problem rather than theoretical equality must be taken into account has found himself classed as "racist" or a "Negro hater." In the end, it will be discovered that the best friends of the Negro are those who want to see such changes made as will truly benefit and not injure him or his opportunity to enjoy "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.'

Letters To The Editor

Recently you printed a letter by Fulcher P. Smith discussing the trout stamp in Maryland.

I wish to compliment him on his letter, which expresses the views of many of the trout fishermen of Allegany County.

Trout fishing in the area isn't worth the time put into it. It really isn't a sport any longer but a matter of who gets to the stream first at stocking time.

As for the reason given for the fishermen), not only is this not logical, but won't work. I know of nine people who no longer intend to buy Maryland licenses at all. And there are probably a lot more. It isn't the extra dollar that the people mind, but the idea of paying something for nothing. Trout are not plentiful and conditions have not been improved.

Some Items For A Vacation Medical Kit

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

Most people remain as healthy when traveling as they do at home. Some even feel better because they are relaxed and have taken a few precautions before starting the crip. Many carry a medical kit to lend assurance that remedies will be available in case of illness or accident. What to take depends upon where the individual expects ' go.

Certain items do double duty. A pencil type flashlight, for example, has a medical use but handy to check bleeding, remove foreign bodies from the eye, or to insert between the toes because of ringworm or irritation. Sterile gauze, band aids, and adhesive tape are important when spending a vacation in the rough.

Several medicines ought to be included in the travel kit. simple pain reliever like aspirin or empirin eases headache, backache, and toothache. An antacid such as baking soda or Gelusil is useful for indigestion. Cough medicines and nosedrops are helpful for the common cold.

One of the anti-diarrhea products may come in handy. Old fashioned paregoric is hard to beat for abdominal cramps, and the sulfonamides are worthwhile for infectious diarrhea. Severe dysentery lasting more than 48 hours requires the services of a physician.

Antibiotics have been over-used but they may prove life-saving when the traveler develops a high fever and is unable to get medical attention. One of the antihistaminics will relieve itching and allergies. Seasickness requires an antimotion sickness remedy. If you are nervous and easily upset, get a tranquilizer from your physician before leaving.

Lonesome Old Town

Paris is empty. Well, almost empty. Nobody here but five million people. But nobody you know. All the right people are in St. Tropez.

Or are they?

There are two forms of rampant snobbery going on. One is that everybody blows town right after the Grand Prix. The other is that only the shmucks go south in July and August - it's much too crowded. "Oh, my God, you don't want to go to St. Tropez now. It's overrun." That's one way of looking at things.

The other is: "What on earth are you doing in Paris. Nobody there but people from Cleveland. Take your choice. One should stay in Paris because nobody's here and isn't it wonderful to have the lovely town all to yourself? Or one should flee because nobody's here and isn't it awful to be stuck in a desert without Bobo and Tootoo and Czee Czee and Zsa Zsa and Lolo and Lala and Teetee and Hoho. (People who are somebody as opposed to the nobodies all have nicknames with two identical syllables. That's how you tell the nobodies from somebodies.)

The snobs who stay in Paris through August are having a good year, but already they're being upstaged by the people who did it last year or even the year before. France has as many different kinds of snobbism as it has different kinds of cheeses, which is why it's such a nice place to live. You can pick your own snobbism. There are the snobs who go to St. Tropez because Brigitte Bardot and Francoise Sagan are there. And there are the snobs who say: "St. Tropez was a marvellous place until Brigitte Bardot and Sagan ruined it. Now nobody-but nobody - goes there." Nobody, at last count, was 140,000 people, which is a lot of nobodies, including some pretty famous ones. But then fame, among the rarified forms of snobbery, doesn't mean you're somebody. Not at all. You can hear people tell you that Sagan and Bardot are nobodies. Not anymore. Last year, the year before, ten years ago, maybe. Not anymore. "Finished," they tell you with a little Gallic wave. That's the way it goes. Anyhow, Paris has got rid of what are called the June faces. These are the people who come here every June, wouldn't dream of coming any other time, and vanish like smoke the day after the Grand Prix is run. They have their own interesting pattern. "When did you get here?" they say. It never occurs to them that people live here. Live here! All year round! It would be better if you concealed that. Another of these gambits: "I missed you in Palm Beach this year." Better not say you weren't there.

The earth would swallow you. They've gone, the fashionable they're July faces) or Cap Ferrat or wherever June faces go. (I know a guy who says they don't go anywhere, they just disappear like certain kinds of moths who flourish only one month a year.) That leaves Paris full of people from Cleveland and lonely French husbands. The wives and children are all in the south and the town is full of French husbands, living like bachelors. The newspapers are full of advice to the wives on how to maneuver their husbands so the place isn't a sea of dirty dishes when they come back. All these articles sound like the ones that used to appear in American newspapers about 20 years ago. There's even a place that sews on the buttons for French husbands who want that sort of service. What do French husbands do when their wives and children go to the seashore? Not what you'd think. They go to a lot of movies. There are movie revivals of old Westerns and old Hitchcock movies (which the French love) all over town. The French husbands call their wives in the south as the skyrocketting records of the French government telephone service testify. You might think, considering the French reputation, that the husbands are raising a lot of hell with the light ladies of the boulevards. They don't. The fact is the light ladies of the boluevards are on vacation, too. The girls take a working vacation in Cannes and Nice and the other cities on the Cote d'Azur and they usually charge exactly double what they charge on the grand boulevards. Well, everything is twice as expensive on the Cote d'Azur. Why not l'amour?

Me, I like crowds. I've never quite understood this avoidance of places that are crowded. I'm even going back to Torremolinos in August, which is so jammed you can hardly move a car through town. "Torremolinos! My God, nobody goes there any more! You should have known it in the old days when it was a fishing village.

I know I should have. But I didn't. I like it now.

Red Faces In Bonn And Washington

Hardly a day passes without news of Russian spies and their activities. Now the West Germans, who had the reputation of being cagey, have uncovered at least three Soviet operatives in their federal intelligence, if that is the right

The three admit that for 10 years they have been serving the Reds faithfully. Consequently, there are a lot of red faces in Bonn.

Shortly before they were nabbed, two of the double agents received simultaneous accolades from both countries. The German boss, a former Wehrmacht general, sent plaques showing St. George slaying the dragon. The chairman of the Soviet committee for state security was more generous. He sent not only letters of praise, but cash bonuses.

One of the Germans managed, even after he was in jail, to keep transmitting reports to the Soviets. Another of the trio testified there were so many Germans working for the Reds in his department that his Soviet superiors suggested he try to get a transfer to another office where he could be more useful.

But it is difficult to laugh at the gullible Germans, for their intelligence agency was set up by the American CIA, which operated it as a subdivision for eight years, and has maintained close ties since.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

The Price Of A Deal

He is a short man, a native of Hungary, and he talks slowly and carefully in a precise, though oddly accented, English. His eyebrows are strong and heavy, giving an impression of hidden physical reserve. On his left arm there is a tattooed identification mark, the ineradicable reminder of his compulsory "registration" in a Nazi concentration camp.

During World War II he was shuttled about from camp to camp by his captors; just before he was scheduled for execution and an anonymous grave he aped and managed to make his way to General "Lucky Forward" Patton's lines. It was his second escape from totalitarianism, for, as a captured officer of the Austro-Hungarian Army during World War I. he had been sent away to northeastern Siberia. When the Bolsheviks grabbed him, he managed to buy his freedom by pretending he was a skilled veterinarian and hence exchangeable for a Russian veterinarian whom Lenin's government wanted back.

The point of this introduction to the career and character of Dr. Bela Fabian, the head of the Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners, is that he knows what it is like to be stuck away behind barbed wire or in a remote place from which attempted escape is usually a form of suicide. As a survivor of the Nazi hell of Auschwitz, Dr. Fabian considers that a duty has been laid upon him to spend the rest of his life working to save political prisoners who are still being held incommunicado. There are plenty of them today, in Soviet Russia and in China - and they include among them some 63,000 Hungarian compatriots of Dr. Fabian who were carted away to Kazakstan in Soviet Asia after Khrushchev's armored divisions had finished the business of smashing the Hungarian Revolution.

Originally the seized Hungarian "pols" were 75,-000 in number-but, as a measure of his willingness to soften a bit, Khrushchev allowed 12,000 of the captives to be repatriated. But that was long ago as a prisoner's life is reckoned, in 1958. The remaining 63,000 prisoners have had five years of forced labor in the Soviet Union since the "token" repatriation of the 12,000.

Now the talk is that some non-aggression agreement might be worked out between the NATO nations and the Soviet satellite nations of Eastern Europe. Khrushchev, in suggesting a pact, has been showing his pleasant side. As the poet Robert Frost said, Khrushchev has the ability to seem a "genial ruffian." Such "ruffians" are in marked contrast to Stalin, who was generally dour and implacable and whose humor was heavily sarcastic.

A "genial" Khrushchev intent on playing the role of Dr. Jekyll may be better for the western world than the shouting, shoe-banging Bolshevik version of Mr. Hyde. But Dr. Bela Fabian sees it somewhat differently. He is afraid that, in a period of amity between the West and Moscow, the 63,000 Hungarian prisoners will be forgotten.

Among the 63,000 there were, when the orginal seizure was made, some 7,000 girls, then aged 13 to 18. "The lucky ones among those girls," says Dr. Fabian broodingly, "were those who managed to find single lovers among the Russians to protect them." Svetlana Tukashevsky, whose father, the famous Marshal Tukashevsky, was executed during the big purge of the Nineteen Thirties, befriended the 7,000 Hungarian girls — and some of them have managed to get letters posted to the West, which is how Dr. Fabian has been able to keep track of what goes on in Kazakstan.

The UN has not been able to do anything for the Aungarian prisoners in Kazakstan. There have been amnesties of a sort (in reality, suspended sentences) in Hungary, where Dictator Kadar is now aspiring to be called a liberal. But there has been no amnesty, no Bay of Pigs type of ransom, for the deportees. Senator Hubert Humphrey tried to talk to the visiting Soviet envoy Milkoyan about the Kazakstan prisoners when he was in Washington, but all the Senator got was a stony answer that the only prisoners in Russia were common criminals.

So what should be done if the prisoners are not to be sacrificed to "amity" between West and East? Are they doomed to be swept under the rug for the crime of having been Hungarian patriots? Dr. Fabian's Federation of Hungarian Former Political Prisoners has one last wild hope: let an exchange of Hungarians from Kazakstan be put high on the agenda as one price of any deal with Khrushchev on eastern Europe. There should be other prices, too, but that is another subject.

Sonny Liston Says Home Is Most Important Factor In A Boy's Life

WASHINGTON-One interesting aspect about the world's heavy weight boxing match is that both Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson have been in trouble for delinquency but Joth have been trying to do something to help others avoid similar pitfalls.

Patterson has used his own money to set up the "Floyd Patterson Houses" in New York, two homes on the East Side where boys just out of reform school can live during the first difficult period of adjustment.

Sonny Liston came to Washington for the last Big Brothers dinner and among other things spent some time at Junior Village, a government orphanage where he tried to fill the vacuum in the lives of children, some of whom have never seen a mother. Sonny was so occupied, that l.e was late getting to the dinner.

Press Begins To Understand Racial Problems

WASHINGTON-For a long time now, many people in the South have been saying that the newspapers of the North don't understand the "segregation" problem. But something has happened recently which indicates that prominent newspapers in the North -'The New York Times' and "The New York Herald Tribune" are beginning to understand that "integration" isn't as simple as it has appeared to be.

"Equal rights," for instance, are being found to be impractical if they are literally applied in education. Even the viewpoint of the Supreme Court of the United States — that a Negro child can't get as good an education in a segregated as in a desegregated school — is turning out to be more theoretical than practical. Perhaps the most realistic editorial that has been written on the impracticality of racial equality. in the public schools appeared on Thursday in "The New York Times." The full text is as fol-

"New York City is doing some hard and needed thinking these days about how to give the Negro his equal opportunity in every way - education, jobs, housing, everything. That is good. But the Negro, equally with the white man, should be wary of easy solutions, quick remedies that seem to promise instant success. One of these is inherently unjust and inhumane. It is the quota system. "It has the temptation of surface plausibility. If the population of the city is 15 per cent Negro, why shouldn't the Negro have 15 per cent of the jobs? If the population of Manhattan is 25 per cent Negro, then he should have 25 per cent of the jobs in Manhattan. Easy, isn't it? But go on from

whether there were qualified applicants or not. And it would apply to religions, nationalities - and how many other kinds of divisions? Every floor in every office building would have to have its quotaed shade of color, race or whatnot. To state the proposition is to show its absurdity and also its inherent evil.

"Now let us look at the public schools. With the best will in the world how, in Manhattan, can 'quota' be achieved even if it were desirable to do so? Negro and Puerto Rican children in that borough total 76.5 per cent of elementary school enrollment and 71.6 per cent junior high school enrollment. Citywide there are 117 elementary schools whose pupils are Negro of Puerto Rican by 90 per cent or more. These schools cannot be made 'white.' Bernice Carton, whose husband, Marvyn, is a successful and wellknown amateur sailing buff, tells what it's like to be the wife of a man who LOVES sail boats. "A boat owner," she warns, "becomes a Captain Bligh overnight. Just put that yachting cap on his head, and he immediately starts striding up and down the quarterdeck. This involves a certain amount of agility, since the average sail boat has no quarterdeck to speak of. The doughty Captain expects instantaneous and unquestioning obedience from his crew, which includes, of course, his wife. It's best to answer, 'Aye, aye, sir' to his totally incomprehensible orders, although if a salute is added the Captain may suspect he's being kidded The quickest way to sever diplomatic relations with a Captain addicted to nautical terms is to

Sonny Liston Knocks Out Patterson In 2:10 Of Opening Round

Champ Floors Ex-Titleholder Three Times

Rematch Follows Pattern Of Sept. 25 Fiasco In Chicago

By JACK HAND LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)-Sonny Liston destroyed Floyd Patterson with his massive fists, flooring the ex-champ three times enroute to a knockout in 2 minutes and 10 seconds of the first round of his first heavyweight title defense. It took only four seconds longer than the fiasco of last Sept. 25 when the Menacing Destroyer won the crown in 2:06. Many wondered why there should be a rematch. They still are wondering. Patterson went out on his shield, obviously overmatched physically against this hulk of a man with the poker face. Floyd, grimly determined to make up for his humiliation in Chicago, took one long desperate gamble with a right hand punch after he had been floored the first time. It rattled off Liston's chin like dice bouncing off a crap table on the nearby Strip. Booed when he entered the ring by the capacity crowd of some 8,000 fans at Convention Center, Liston fixed Patterson with a sullen glare and went quickly about speck of trouble!"

One big reason why an AMOCO, Gasoline customer can say "not a speck of trouble" when asked about his car's performance is this: clear, lead-free AMOCO is the cleanest burning gasoline you can buy for your car. Regular use of AMOCO can double the life of spark plugs and mufflers and extend the life of other vital engine parts. Filtered Amoco Gasoline is the only one that is Certified Lead-Free, which means that worry-free driving is as close to you as the nearest American Oil Dealer.

Here is a local one owner truck that is in excellent condition. It has an 8 foot long bed and a removable 8 foot high panel body that makes this truck ideal for furniture or appliance business. This is a 6 cylinder with standard shift that gives high gas mileage, has a heater, defroster, signal lights, extending outside mirrors, plus the small accessories. We have checked this truck through the garage and know it to be in A-1 condition. It will also carry a one year G&W Waranty, so be sure to see this bargain at our low price that they will ask for waivers on colorful outfielder Jimmy Piersall.

The 33-year-old outfielder, who came to the Mets in the deal that permitted Gil Hodges to go to the Washington Senators as manager, May 23, has a batting average of only .193 this season.

If no team claims Piersall within the 72-hour period, he will be given his unconditional release.

As a 12-year major league veloce.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE - Here's how to work it: AXYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

THEY'LL fit your needs like a glove. By this we mean that classified advertising is as near as possible tailored to everyone's needs. The more than fifty classifications that appear on these pages every day have evolved from the amount of demand for headings that individual advertisers needed over the years. If you don't see the classification heading you need, just ask, we'll be glad to explain how we generally handle ads like yours.

Card Of Thanks

To all of our neighbors, friends and members of the Bedford Road Baptist Church and Rev. Allen J. Beck our heartfelt thanks for the flowers, cards and help in our time of sorrow in the 60 Ford ½ Ton Pickup J. H. Judy and family

In loving memory of our beloved son and brother, Danny DeVault, who passed away 7 years ago, July 23rd, 1956. Your memory to us is a keepsake, With which we shall never part: Though God had you in His keeping, We still have you in our hearts. Sadly missed by his Mother, Dad & Brothers

During a meeting at the Court House, Mayor Joseph James and members of the Frostburg City Council presented a six-point preliminary proposal to the commission for study

The program which was offered by Frostburg proposes that

The county establish a sanitary district adequately outlined to encompass all unincorporated populated areas in the vicinity of Frostburg.

Frostburg should geographically lie within the sanitary district. but for purpose of operation and administration be excluded.

Frostburg will support all capital outlay within the city or that located without the city on a prorata basis, with it firmly understood that tie-in by others to the basic facility will be on an initial dollar-for-dollar prorata rebate direct to the city

Frostburg will pay pumping charge and treatment charges as indicated by a meter in the offluent line as it leaves the limits of the city.

Since there has been no engineering estimates made on the plan as outlined above, it is also proposed that this be done immediately, and submitted to Frostburg. The estimate should include capital outlay in total and the total should be broken into increments of bonding, federal aid, and Accelerated Public Work aid.
